MARYLAND AND MAINE WATCHED BY POLITICIANS

Tydings-Lewis Primaries Eyed by the Nation

POLITICS AT A GLANCE
By the Associated Press

Today: Maine elects three house members, governor, and other state officers. Maryland nominates candidates for senator, governor and six house seats.

Tomorrow: Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan, Louisiana, Utah and Washington hold primaries. Connecticut Democrats start convention. South Carolina Democrats choose candidate for governor in run-off primary.

Wednesday: Georgia nominates candidates for senator, governor and house. Delaware Republicans select house candidate in convention.

Thursday: Connecticut Republicans nominate ticket in convention.

(By the Associated Press)
The Tydings-Lewis primary in Maryland edged today into the limelight usually reserved for Maine's state election, forerunner of the general November balloting.

Voting in the two states inaugurated a busy political week, which will go far in determining success or failure of President Roosevelt's efforts to defeat congressmen opposed to his program.

Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, one of those on the President's blacklist, was up for Democratic renomination against Rep. David J. Lewis, whom Mr. Roosevelt lauded as a social security pioneer. Georgia will settle a similar contest Wednesday.

Maine Election
There was no senate seat at stake in Maine, one of the two states lost by the Roosevelt-Garner ticket in 1936, but Democrats were trying to defeat a Republican governor and three Republican house members.

Gov. Lewis O. Barrows, Republican, was opposed by Louis Brann, his Democratic predecessor who lost a senatorial race two years ago. Brann has not been known as an especially ardent New Dealer.

Mr. Roosevelt did not take part in the Maine campaign, but he went into Maryland week ago to speak in behalf of Lewis.

The 69-year-old representative, who rose from coal miner to lawyer and legislator, contends Tydings has voted more as a Republican than as a Democrat. The senator, who at 48 is seeking a third term, has argued that his opponent would be merely a rubber stamp.

The Democratic victor will oppose either Oscar Leser, former Baltimore judge, or Galen Tait, for 22 years Republican state chairman. Harry Rice, one of the nation's few Republican governors, sought renomination against Harry T. Phoenix, while the Democrats had a four-way gubernatorial contest.

In Other States
There will be senatorial primaries tomorrow in Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Vermont, Utah, and Washington, but in most of these states the incumbents have little or no intra-party opposition.

Louisiana also will have a primary, but Democrats there already have declared Senator John H. Overton renominated. Michigan, which has no senatorship at stake this year, will decide other contest in a primary.

Although the New Deal is not an issue in the Democratic senatorial primaries Tuesday, it is the center of Georgia's four-man senatorial battle. The primary in that state Wednesday will be between Senator Walter George, whom the President wants defeated; Lawrence Camp, White House choice; former Governor Eugene Talmadge and William G. McRae.

Senator Long of Connecticut, who like George and Tydings opposed the 1937 court bill, will come up for renomination in a state Democratic convention Tuesday and Wednesday. He has been endorsed by Attorney General Cummings.

Illinois Corn to Average About 43 Bushels Per Acre

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 12.—(P)—Illinois corn crop was figured at 361,673,000 bushels by the state and federal departments of agriculture today, an average of 43 bushels an acre.

The average was four bushels per acre less than last year's record yield.

As the crop moved toward maturity, Agricultural Statistician A. J. Surraff described it as spotty but generally good and said 55 per cent of the acreage was sufficiently advanced to be safe from frost on Sept. 10. Eighty per cent will be out of frost danger by Sept. 20.

Soybean production for the year was indicated at 22,898,000 bushels, or a record average of 20.5 per acre.

Statisticians lumped corn, oats and barley estimates and placed the year's production at 1,197,000 tons, 21 per cent below last year's yields of the same crops but 17 per cent higher than the 1927-36 average insuring ample feed for Illinois livestock during the coming year.

Corn prospects are very uneven, but in general, improvement was shown in all districts except central, western and upper southwestern Illinois during August, the report said.

"In these areas, heat and drought resulted in imperfect pollination and poorer than usual filling of ears. However, the crop moved toward maturity in excellent condition in northern Illinois as well as in the east, and prospects are for a good crop in the southeast and extreme south.

In spite of severe damage by rains to spring grains, the report said they yielded better than the ten-year average. The oats yield of 30.5 bushels an acre was 'disappointing' compared with last year's 45.5 bushels.

Garden and truck crops were above average with the potato yield best since 1928, but pasture conditions were only 85 per cent of normal. The commercial apple crop was put at 2,400,000 bushels, 59 per cent under last year, while peaches yielded 1,425,000 bushels, a third below the 1937 figure.

Just a Headache for Trip Across Lake in 'U-Boat'

Chicago, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Hilfney Connett, 32, a mechanic had a headache today as he headed toward a lake in a home-made mechanical fish.

The described contraption as a one-man submarine, a trout named Mary-El. It was built and painted to resemble a fish and has a yellow and green body with brown speckles, gills, large blue eyes and an all-steel body. It is 11 feet long, 37 inches high, 23 inches wide in the middle, weighs 1,000 pounds and has a four-foot periscope.

He climbed into the craft at Michigan City, Ind. yesterday, after traveling three feet beneath the surface of Lake Michigan. It swam the 38 miles to Chicago in 10 hours and 50 minutes. He was accompanied by the 10-ton, 62-foot schooner, carrying two divers.

"I didn't get anything out of it," he said. "I did it because I like to fool around with mechanics. I placed the Mary-El together during the last five years from odds and ends of sheet iron and tin and fitted it out with an electric motor and oxygen equipment. I haven't any practical value."

He said the trip had been very rough and that he had consumed his oxygen supply about 25 miles from Chicago.

"I had to come up and breathe up to the sleep for half an hour while the Mary-El filled up with oxygen," he said. "That explains how I got my headache."

Bomb Proof Shelter for Americans Will Be Built in Prague

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Czech workmen hastened completion of a bomb-proof shelter for Americans today in the garden of the United States legation today.

Walter J. Carr, United States minister here, has been working hard all day to keep the state department in Washington in touch with developments.

Primer Milan Hrdla agreed with his ministers today that no military measures should be taken at present but that they should stand ready to proclaim martial law in case of extreme emergency. It was decided to instruct the police to arrest further incidents in the southern German districts.

Vinton Chapin, first secretary of the legation, General General Raymond Cox were besieged by Czech-Americans asking what to do in case of war. Many cases involve "advice to the foreign" treatment as they involve Czech-American marriages and betrothals. In all cases Chapin and Cox explain the facts without actually advising the applicants what to do.

Applications for American citizenship have tripled. United States citizens also are writing and telephoning to the legation for accommodations in the bomb proof shelter, which is being built with an all-steel body. Both the Czech and United States governments authorized its construction as a precaution.

The capacity of the shelter is not expected to exceed 50.

Carr is actually carrying on the duties of a foreign minister, according to the story to Washington like a newspaper man. He is in constant touch with the government and other sources, such as expert typists, and files a "running story" across the Atlantic.

Flood Waters in Wisconsin; Trains Collide in a Fog

Darand, Wis., Sept. 12.—(P)—Maine water rushed through Mississippi river between Wisconsin and Minnesota today, leaving behind wreckage, washed-out tracks and landslides, flooded homes and uncounted thousands of dollars damage.

A Northwestern railroad wrecking crew was untangling the debris when the Northwestern limited plowed into the rear of the Victory Limited near Starla in the latter train's second week in three days resulting from the flood. Three passengers were taken to a local hospital, and 15 of 20 others had minor injuries.

The crash occurred on the Northwestern line about 10 miles from Chicago to the Wisconsin border through heavy fog, caused into the Victory as it waded a bridge guards rep. The train was derailed. The train was derailed. The train was derailed.

Britisher Fails to Lower Record

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, Sept. 12.—(UP)—John Cobb, London fur broker, early today failed in his attempt to establish a new world's land speed record when he averaged an estimated 339.5 miles per hour in two runs over Bonneville Salt Flats.

Cobb indicated that he would not make another attempt on the 345.49 mile per hour record held by Capt. G. E. T. Eyston, today.

His speed for the north to south run was estimated at 342 miles an hour. On his second dash from south to north, Cobb's speed was about 337 miles an hour despite a slight tail wind.

Atlantic City Has Problem in Beauty Contest; 2 Queens

New York, Sept. 12.—(P)—The Atlantic City beauty pageant of 1937, Miss America, had a problem today in choosing a second queen, Miss America.

Significantly, the judges who Saturday night had chosen Miss America, a 20-year-old beauty from Marion, O., had chosen a 19-year-old beauty from Los Angeles, and pronounced her the true Miss America.

Miss James, statuette winner of 19 years, placed second at the Atlantic City pageant of 1937. She said she was surprised at the rating because "at least eight of the 15 judges later told me they voted for me and I didn't understand it."

In his speech of presentation, made in a crowded hotel ballroom, Theatrical Producer Carroll said:

"The judges at Atlantic City were incompetent. I've chosen enough beautiful girls to know what it's all about. Anyone at the contest could tell by the applause that Miss California was the winner."

"So, Miss James, I'm sorry but I'm afraid of the fact and a 19-year-old beautiful girl in the Atlantic City pageant."

Carroll said he had nothing to do with any beauty contest, but Miss James made a low line for Carroll. "Miss California" said in Milwaukee, she had received several "attractive" offers.

She denied reports from Atlantic City that she complained of "gimmicks" at the pageant.
